the Somme there was brisk cannonading around the newly won French positions at Maurepas.

On the Verdun front, the Germans attacked three times last night, east of hill 204, on the west bank of the Meuse, and in the region of Fleury. All the attacks were repulsed.

Between the Oise and the Aisne, a violent artillery struggle occurred on the sector of Moulins and Sou-St-Ouvent.

The success of the new French thrust morth of the Somme in Saturday and Sunday's fighting increases the peril of the Germann line froz — imbles to Peronne. The capture of the villages of Maurepas and Clery, necessary to an advance against Peronne from the north, is believed certain under the next great French blow on this front. The Germann bombarded the French lines around Maurepas heavily last might. They are expected to launch a heavy counter-attack to batter in the wedge thrust into their line, and it is possible this cannonading preceded a strong infantry attack.

LONDON, Aug. 14.—The Germans gained a temporary footing last night in trenches west of Pozieres, captured by the British in yesterday's fighting, General Haig reported this afternoon.
South of Ypres, the British carried out a successful raid, without loss. Mining activity in this neighborhood was also to the advantage of the British.

Pierce Another Strong Line East of Nadlogan Heights.

ROME, Aug. 14.—General Cadorna's forces pierced another strong line of Austrian entrenchments east of Nadlogan heights, south of Gorfitz, and are continuing to press the enemy on the Carso plateau, it was officially announced today.

Arrival of Austrian re-enforcements has checked the Italian advance east of Goritz and has impeded slightly the progress of the Italian drive on Trieste, but fresh gains are reported in dispatches from the Tolmino front today.

Pending the outcome of severe fighting for Tolmino, the war office is withholding official statements. It is reported, however, that an Italian detachment penetrated the suburbs of Tolmino in one stage of the fighting, and that the Italians have made notable gains at several places.

the Italians have made notable gains at several places.

Some military critics believe that General Cadorna, after cleaning the Austrians from the Isonzo river bend south of Goritz, will hold up his advance on Trieste until the Tolmino stronghold falls, and then open a general invasion of Austria on the whole Isonzo front.

Moore, general manager of the Armor Packing Company's Washington office. "We clean up our supply of meats every week. We do not keep more than a week's supply on hand, and I do not know of anybody that does in Washington.
"I am not looking for any trouble, however. I do not believe there will be a serious railrond strike. We have here a large supply of canned goods. I should say a month's supply, if I estimate it—which I haven't done. But it is a large supply, and we keep it on hand all the time." Continued from First Page.)

Butter and Egg Supply Limited. "The supply of butter and eggs in Washington now is extremely limited. I should say," said James F. Oyster.

Our sugar comes from New York and our shortening from Bayonne, N. J. I should say that they would last about twenty days—if the strike doesn't come before they get here. Our supply of flour comes from Kansas and North Dakota. We have a little on hand."

The flour supply situation is not so bad, however, according to the bakers and the grocery dealers. The biggest flour market in this section of the country is at Baltimore, where immense quantities of the staple are kept in storage. Sufficient flour to supply the needs of the people of Washington could be obtained by motor truck.

Baltimore could be used as a supply for green food stuffs and vegetables by motor truck. The water-borne vegetable business of Baltimore is very large.
